Jopen Callie Vibrating Mini Wand

If Apple made a vibe, this would be it. Its seven patterns go from "low to whoa," says a tester, and the sleek shape gave her C-spot and G-spot Os. The only thing it doesn't do is text. $70, ticklekitty.com

Ooh by Je Joue

Fit the white motor into one of three attachments (like this blue ring for him) and it's like having a vibe for every mood. "My guy and I used a low setting," says a tester. "He got a tingly feeling, and it sent shivers through me!"

Wanachi Mega Massager

Okay, so it's giant. Like, you've probably held babies smaller than this thing. But with size comes power, and the huge head gives good feels "from my clit to my inner thighs," says our brave tester. Other bonuses? Its jumbo size makes it insanely easy to figure out, and the 10 vibe patterns give you a huuuuge (sorry!) selection. $135 (50% off and free shipping with code COSMO), adameve.com

dil-dos and don'ts

SHOP SMART, OR RISK BUYING A $100 VIBE THAT COLLECTS COBWEBS.
(RETAILERS DON'T DO RETURNS OR EXCHANGES...FOR OBVIOUS REASONS!)

ASK Q'S

"Where does this go?" and "What does this button do?" are totally normal questions, says Leah Perrotti, a sex educator at Babeland. Don't be alarmed if a salesperson asks you some Qs too. (They're not judging—promise!) And if you're shopping online, GoodVibes.com and LoveHoney.com let you live-chat with a personal shopper.

TRY BEFORE YOU BUY

Okay, not literally because that would be gross, but you should play with the buttons, see how the vibrations feel in your hands, and test out all the settings in the store. That's what the sample toys are there for, so don't be shy.

LOOK BEYOND THE TRENDY TOYS

"People's bodies and sexual preferences are so varied," says Sarah Muller, senior sex educator at the Smitten Kitten in Minneapolis. "What works for your friend might not work for you, so try to focus on you and your body."

BRING FRIENDS!

Brunch and a buzzfest, anyone? "Shopping with game friends may make it easier to walk through the door and explore the products," says Perrotti. Or if your boo is into it, make it a fun daytime date—which will make both of you look forward to that night. Getting an S.O.'s input can be really helpful...and surprisingly sexy.

Doc Johnson OptiMALE Rechargeable Vibrating C-ring

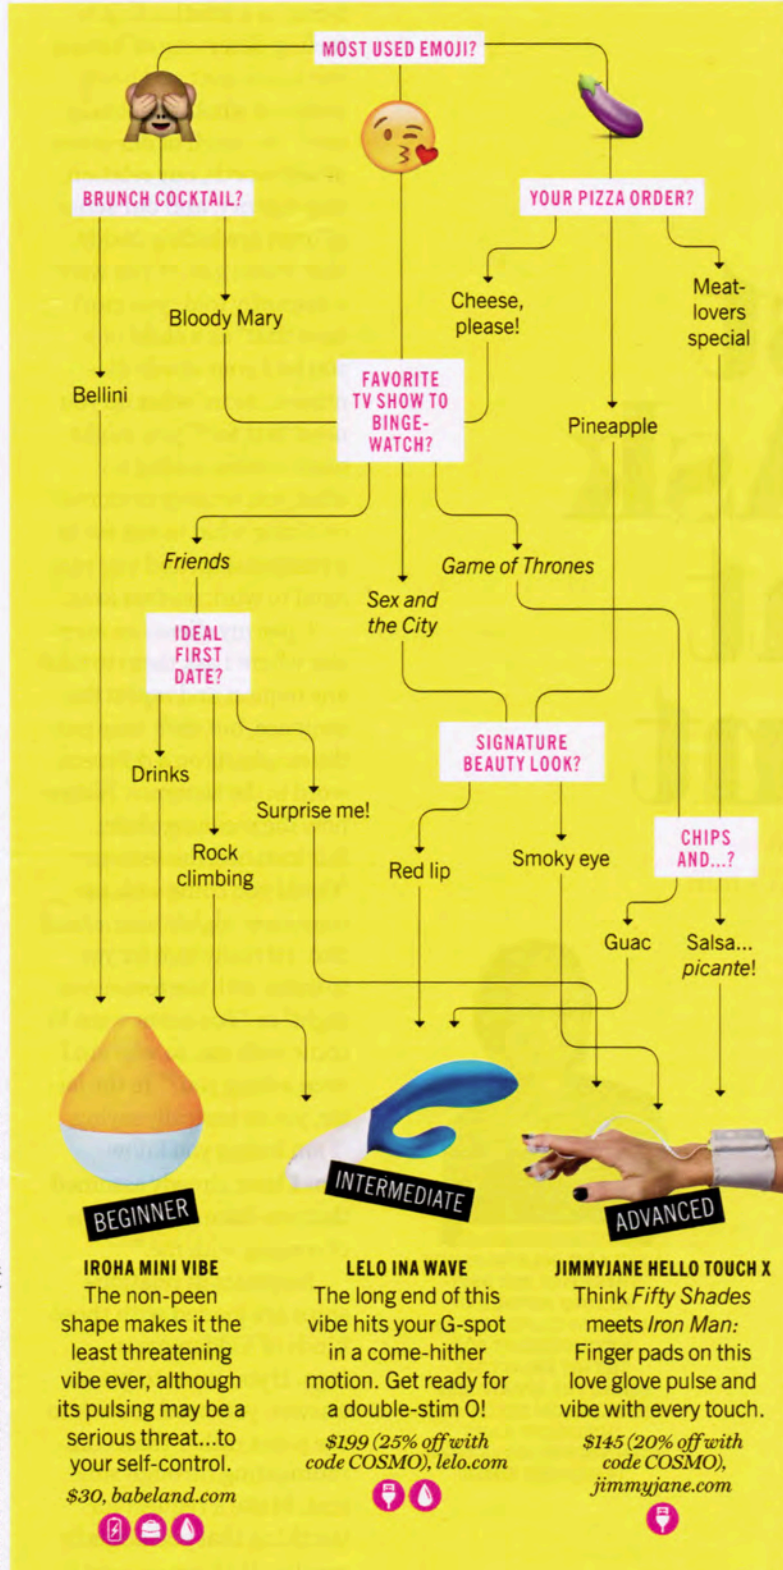

This one fits around him and gives you seven super-powerful patterns and a wide base to grind against while you're sexin', promising a huge finish for you both. "At first, it made me laugh because I'm ticklish," says our tester. "But then, whoa. Multiple climaxes had by all!"

HOW TO MIX SEX TOYS AND BOYS

Although 45 percent of guys have used a toy during sex with a partner, according to the Journal of Sexual Medicine, it's understandable that not all dudes would be obsessed with the idea. Start with a bullet, suggests sexologist Susan Block, PhD, and guide his hands to exactly where it feels good. And the more confident you are with a toy, the more you'll both enjoy it. Prep by getting to know your vibe by yourself. Uh, best advice ever?

Chakrub's The Prism

You don't have to live in an ashram to appreciate the "om"-mazingness of this all-natural, buzz-free clear quartz wonder, which is said to protect from negative energy. While our tester didn't report any major chakra changes, she did say heating it up in water first gave her extra feelings of enlightenment.

$189, chakrubs.com

L'Amourose Prism V

The 12 speeds and gently curved shape gave our tester her very first G-spot O. And as if you needed more of an endorsement: "It's also super beautiful—not something I ever thought I'd appreciate in a toy!" $120, smittenkittenonline.com
